

PRECISION

BY RUSKIN

When it comes to designing and manufacturing louvers that meet the precise requirements of your metal building, nobody does it better than Ruskin. Whether you need louvers in a special shape or color, fixed or moveable design or a one-of-a-kind application, Ruskin can meet your requirements.

With manufacturing plants across the country and a nationwide network of technical sales representatives, Ruskin can effectively service your projects, no matter where your buildings are erected. And with our Ruskin Express quick ship program, louvers can be on the road to you within three days!

Ruskin louvers are designed to compliment the form and function of your metal building. In addition to our louvers, we also offer a complete line of air control dampers for precise ventilation of metal buildings. For more information about Ruskin louvers and dampers for metal buildings, contact your local Ruskin representative.
